ALBA BRUNDO

Fascinated by the ancient origins of the harp, and intrigued by the instrument's history, repertoire, and its many hidden possibilities, Alba Brundo has gained international acclaim from audiences and her esteemed colleagues.

Alba's artistic activity has led her to perform as a soloist at the Royal Palace of Caserta, Teatro Diana, Palazzo Zevallos, Villa Pignatelli, Villa Lucia (Naples), Palazzo Nicolaci (Sicily), Casa-Museo Giuliani (Bisceglie). Alba was a part of the tribute concert to Luciano Chailly organized by the Italian Society of Contemporary Music in Museo del Novecento in Milan in December 2022. She regularly appears on Italian stages with saxophonist Gianfranco Brundo. The world premiere of compositions composed for them (Sonata by Derek Healy, the Three Musical Movements by Gianfranco Gioia, Erba tra i sassi by Roberto di Marino) was held in May 2021 at the Teatro Vittorio Emanuele in Messina.

She regularly collaborates with numerous international and national orchestras including the Nuova Orchestra Scarlatti of Naples, the Philharmonic Orchestra of Sicily, the Symphony Orchestra of Plovdiv (Bulgaria), The New Generation Festival Orchestra (UK). She was touring southern Italy as a soloist with the International Orchestra of Campania in January 2023.

Alba Brundo began studying the harp with the late Antonella Valenti, continuing with Prof. Lucia Di Sapio. She currently continues her specialization in solo and chamber music repertoire at the Civica Scuola di Musica 'Claudio Abbado' in Milan under Prof. Dr. Irina Zingg and Prof. Silva Costanzo and studies musicology at the University 'Alma Mater' of Bologna. Alba regularly perfects her skills at the International Summer Academy "HarpMasters". She holds a Bachelor's (BMus) and Master's Degree (MMus), both with honors from the Conservatorio 'San Pietro a Majella', Naples.

Alba teaches the harp at the Liceo Musicale Statale 'Paolo Candiani' in Busto Arsizio (Varese) and is passionately involved in the development of the current harp community, serving as PR & Communication Director of the HarpMasters Academy & Festival.
